A chain of favours is, as its own name says, a chain in which a person receives a favour from someone else, and later, he or she does another favour to a person who needs it. So, the chain can go on and on.

This is the order in our collaborative CHAIN OF FAVOURS:

1) SPAIN (6th GRADERS)

2) ITALY

3) SPAIN (2nd GRADERS)

4) ITALY

5) TURKEY

6) GREECE

OUR CHAIN OF FAVOURS

- 1) A boy is sitting in the bus. A pregnant woman gets into the bus. The boy gives her his seat.

2) ...gets off the bus and she goes to the supermarket to buy some food.

Near the door of the supermarket she sees a poor child. He is crying because he is hungry. She feels sad and she buys a sandwich, biscuits, some fruit and a bottle of water to the child. The child is very grateful and he kisses the woman's belly.

3) and after that the boy goes to the park and he starts sliding. A woman is sitting close to him while she is speaking with her mobile phone. She leaves the park without the mobile and the boy runs behind her to give her the mobile back. She is so grateful and...

4) she comes back to her house. She arrives near the lift and she hears someone who is crying. In the lift there is a little girl. She is scared, because she can't get off. So the woman calls the firemen. While they are waiting for the firemen, the woman sings a song to her. The girl is very happy and grateful .....

5) Later in that day, she goes out for a walk. On the way, she sees an old lady crossing the street. She drops her shopping bags in the middle of the street. The girl runs towards the old lady and helps her to collect her bags and cross the street. The old lady is delighted.

6)The old woman is walking back home when she sees an old man looking for some food in the garbage bin. She feels sorry for him. She takes a loaf of bread out of the shopping bag and gives it to him. The old man is smiling. He's happy and grateful.
